

FUND RAISING

We will continue to seek investment and finance for aspects of our work that involve community actions around food, sewing, creative writing, music, and the publishing of all associated materials in whatever form.

Where we can earn our income, rather than apply to for public funding, we will do so.

Self sustainability is core to our ethos.

It prevents us from depleting funds that other organisations may need because they have more limited earning potential.

The earning of revenue is a main function of a CIC.

Earned funds are not restricted and allow us to change direction, support other nascent groups, and offer flexible rewards to our contractors.

In general, we will seek finance to support specific outputs as a priority, rather than seek support to take on staff .
